

MP101 Manufacturing Processes

Tests and Final Exam

There are 3 major tests given during the term as shown on the sequence of course topics and a final exam given during the last week of the term. Each test covers material from immediate past chapters and labs of the previous weeks. The final exam is cumulative and covers all material from the course.

Tests and final exams are not included in materials presented in the creative commons. This is to protect the integrity of the material from being copied and disseminated by students.

Instructors showing proper and current teaching credentials can obtain copies through the NHTI Mechanical and Manufacturing Engineering Technology Department Head.
