(Although possession and use of marijuana for certain medical conditions consistent with the requirements of the Colorado Constitution is no longer a crime in the State of Colorado, the possession and use of marijuana remain illegal under federal law. Consistent with federal law, including the Controlled Substances Act and the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act, the use and or possession of marijuana continues to be prohibited for students seeking admission or enrolled in a health program at Red Rocks Community College. Therefore a student with a drug screening showing positive for use of marijuana is ineligible for admission and or continuance in the program).
