Description 1. Overview: Describe overview, Psychological Trauma in EMS Patients (PTEP) course gives features and descriptions, uses, and EMS practitioners the resources they need to help alleviate applications. Include cost, if patients' hidden wounds – intense fear, stress, and pain – any for apps during a medical emergency. PTEP educates EMS practitioners about the biological underpinnings of psychological trauma, the short and long-term impact on the brain and body, and warning signs that a patient is experiencing extreme psychological distress. EMS practitioners are also taught strategies and techniques to alleviate patients' distress and help patients cope with what they're experiencing to ward off lingering effects. This 8-hour, 1-day course features scenario-based interactive sessions and lectures. PTEP is designed for EMS practitioners of all levels and will improve the level of customer service provided to their patients. The course is made up of multiple components, lecture, skill stations and simulation. Currently, there are costs related to paying for visiting PTEP faculty as needed (airfare, lodging, meals...) Didactic material, assessment tools, learning objectives, simulations, 2. Type of material: Animation, skill stations, discussion, PPTs assessment tool, assignment, case study, collection, development tool, drill and practice, e-portfolio, learning object repository, online course, open journal article, open textbook, presentation, reference material, simulation/game, social networking tool, quiz/test, tutorial, workshop and training material. Visual projection system for PPTs. 3. Technical requirements: Browser, software or plug-in, Java, HTML, Flash, etc. You can test how it appears on Internet Explorer at http://ipinfo.info/netrenderer/ Note type of device if it is an app

4. Identify major learning goals/	The following are several of the major learning obectives in this class:
curriculum objectives: Purpose of site, goal for	-Recognize interventions needed for patients to prevent psychological trauma.
learner/user.	-Understand the important role that EMS practitioners serve in the prevention of psychological trauma -Describe when EMS practitioners should utilize psychological traumatic stress prevention interventionsRecognize the long-term consequences that can result from psychologically traumatic experiencesDescribe the increased risks to EMS practitioners for self-harm, including suicide -Describe the important role EMS practitioners play in the prevention of psychological traumatic stress for their patients, colleagues, and themselves.
5. Recommended uses: In-class, homework, individual, team, lecture, etc.	In-class lecture with simulations done in small groups of less than 10.
6. Target population: Level, course or subject matter, other user groups	All levels of EMS providers
7. Prerequisite knowledge or skills needed: Course or subject matter, computer skills, other miscellaneous skills	Must be an EMT or paramedic
8. Application to industry recognized certification: Name of credential or certification.	NA, although the student would get a completion certificate upon completion of class.

Evaluation and Observations: After reviewing the learning material, please indicate your agreement with the following statements by placing an "x" in the applicable column where 5=excellent or strongly agree and 1=poor or strongly disagree.

Strengths (Describe the outstanding features of the quality of the learning material)

This is a very well organized short course, integrating lecture and multiple simulations. It is a complete package ready for providing this eight hour program. It makes it clear why this class is so important and provides many opportunities thru the course for practice and skill development
