

Ramp Up Your Career!

Position yourself with short-term training and degrees that can lead to new or expanded career opportunities.

Over the next decade nearly 3.5 million manufacturing jobs will likely be needed in these areas:

- CNC/CAMM
- Automation
- Micro-electrical systems and sensors
- Digital fabrication
- Industrial maintenance
- Occupational Safety
- Welding

Learn about short-term training that can be done in as little as eight months, includes paid internships with employers who need skilled workers and can lead to an associate or bachelor's degree. Financial aid may be available for those who qualify.
