Free Personalized Learning Plans Using Competencies and Open Educational Resources

Create a free, personalized learning plan today to start down a new career pathway, change jobs, stay current in your field, or advance your career. Monitor your progress with a custom dashboard that reflects your goals and dreams. There's no better way to meet your training and professional development needs in HIM at a flexible pace and low cost. The use of national competency frameworks makes learning more transparent and the job seeker more employable.

Knowledge to Work has worked closely with AHIMA over the past three years as part of a U.S. Department of Labor TAACCCT grant to Lord Fairfax Community College to evaluate and catalog educational resources according to AHIMA's national competency frameworks. As part of this grant, a new national framework of certificate level core competencies was developed by AHIMA for the Health Information Technology Certificate – Technical Specialist. As new educational content is developed to teach this emerging curriculum, use the KnowledgeToWork.com portal to find free and low-cost educational resources to learn the required competencies and supplement your coursework and training. Look for this new AHIMA exam in 2018!

Learning Resources for Healthcare Aligned to AHIMA Frameworks

Resources are reviewed and cataloged by faculty and digital librarians and are available in English and Spanish. Many resources are aligned to national competency frameworks, including AHIMA's. Knowledge To Work is available to anyone, anywhere, any time for independent, online learning.
