Project Scope

Over the next 2 years, HIDOE and UH-Leeward Community College are engaging in a video project to highlight effective instructional and classroom management practices of "Highly Effective" HIDOE teachers. Teachers have been chosen to participate based on their overall EES evaluations and the a "distinguished" rating on the Danielson's Observation Model, and the representative diversity of the Hawai'i teacher workforce and student demographics.

We would like to encourage you to share your amazing work and be a part of supportive network of professionals in the state of Hawai'i. We are seeking teachers who are interested in demonstrating the following professional practices:

- Language and Literacy Development
- Classroom Management and Managing Student Behavior
- Instructional Strategies, Technology, and Assessment
- Contextualization and Student Engagement

Benefits of Participation

- "Pilot" Teachers will be provided $875/lesson, up to $1750 for 2 lessons.
- "Non-pilot" teachers will be provided with $625/lesson, up to $1250 total for two lessons.
- Create supportive documentation for core professionalism and guided practice of Danielson's evaluation process.
- Be a part of an evolving professional network of effective teachers!
- Gain recognition at the state level for "highly effective" and "distinguished" teaching.

*All teacher compensation (stipends awarded by UH-LEECC) will be awarded for work done outside of the teacher's contractual DOE working hours.

- Teacher Planning and Preparation
- Teacher Reflection and Professional Growth

*Data from this project will support professional development of current and future teachers, as well as serve as the foundation for scholarly reports and papers in University of Hawai'i system. Please refer to FAQ's for entire project scope.
