Rationale for Program Change: The Entrepreneurial program was listed in both the 2010-11 and 2011-12 Central Wyoming College Strategic Plan as a program of both high interest and demand. The plan addressed CWC's need to increase access and success in learning and improve or expand the college's current offerings. By implementing the Entrepreneurship program, CWC will meet the needs of this high demand field of work.

In addition, the Entrepreneurship program was funded by a TAACCCT grant from the Federal government with one of the charges of the grant relating to training displaced or underemployed workers in a new field to become self-sustainable in today's tough job market. It is the intent of the college to train not only those types of workers but also those who may have been affected by a job being outsourced to an oversea or foreign job market.

New Program

Rationale for Program Change: The Entrepreneurial program was listed in both the 2010-11 and 2011-12 Central Wyoming College Strategic Plan as a program of both high interest and demand. The plan addressed CWC's need to increase access and success in learning and improve or expand the college's current offerings. By implementing the Entrepreneurship program, CWC will meet the needs of this high demand field of work.

In addition, the Entrepreneurship program was funded by a TAACCCT grant from the Federal government with one of the charges of the grant relating to training displaced or underemployed workers in a new field to become self-sustainable in today's tough job market. It is the intent of the college to train not only those types of workers but also those who may have been affected by a job being outsourced to an oversea or foreign job market.
